

Dear Hiring Team,

I'm writing to [Company Name] to express interest in the [Job Title] position. I am excited to contribute my academic background, practical IT experience, and love of technology to your team as a driven student of computer science at Beirut Arab University.

Working in the IT department at Hamoud Hospital gave me invaluable hands-on experience in resolving hardware and software problems, assisting users, and ensuring seamless IT operations. My ability to solve problems and communicate in a practical setting was enhanced by this position.

I also have the Cisco IT Essentials 8.0 certification, which has improved my technical understanding in areas like system security, networking, and computer hardware.

I am excited about the chance to support your company and develop in a stimulating and demanding work environment. I am certain that I am an excellent candidate for this role because of my technical skills, strong work ethic, and desire to learn.

I appreciate you taking a look at my application. I'm excited for the chance to talk about how I can help your team.

Regards,

Zayour, Abbas